Discharge advice following a gastroscopy with sedation

Introduction

This leaflet gives you information about care following your gastroscopy.

Sedation

The medications used for sedation can remain in the body for at least 24 hours, gradually wearing off.

It is therefore very important that a capable adult is available to take you home and stay with you for the next 24 hours.

It is also important that for the next 24 hours you follow the advice below:

- You should not drive or ride a bicycle as your reflexes and judgement will be impaired.
- Sedation can make you unsteady on your feet. Please be careful on stairs and have someone with you if you feel unsteady.
- Your judgement may be affected so do not make any important decisions or sign any legal documents.
- Be careful if using social media.
- You should not return to work, look after dependants, cook or operate machinery
- You should not drink any alcohol or take sleeping tablets.

When can you eat and drink?

You can eat and drink from: _____

You can eat and drink normally after discharge from the time indicated above; although we do recommend a lighter diet for today.

Medication

You can take your usual prescribed medications when they are next due unless otherwise stated by the Endoscopist or discharging nurse. For blood thinning medications (anticoagulants) separate advice will be given.

After effects

You may experience the following:

- A bloated, windy feeling – moving around may help to relieve this.
- A sore throat for a short time after the procedure. This is normal and should pass within 2 days.

What happens next?

- A report will be sent to your GP.
- The results of the test and any specimens taken are sent directly to your GP. This can take up to 5 weeks.
- If a consultant follow up is needed you will receive an appointment letter in the post.
- If a repeat procedure is needed your medical notes will be reviewed by an Endoscopist before you are due to attend. This is because the criteria for repeating procedures may change or be altered as National Guidelines are reviewed and updated. If it is felt that your procedure is no longer required, we will send you a letter in the post.

A member of the nursing team will have explained to you what has been done today and any further tests that you may need.

When to seek advice

Serious side effects are rare. However, if any of the following occur within 48 hours after your gastroscopy please contact the Endoscopy Unit where you had your procedure.

- Severe pain in the neck, chest or abdomen.
- Vomiting blood or bowel motion turns black.
- Abdominal pain and bloating.
- High temperature (fever) or you feel generally unwell.
- Disorientation (feeling lost or confused).

Patient Information

If you have been given Buscopan® to relax your stomach during the procedure please seek urgent medical advice if you experience any of the following:

- Painful red eye with loss of vision.
- Blurred, misty or foggy vision.
- Nausea and/or vomiting.
- Unable to pass urine.

If you have any concerns, please contact one of the following for advice:

- Endoscopy Unit where you were seen
- Your GP
- NHS 111

If you think you require immediate medical attention, please phone 999 or go to your nearest Accident & Emergency Department.
