

Have you been diagnosed with Barrett's Oesophagus? The BOSS trial could be for you

We are conducting the BOSS study because we are not sure whether regular endoscopy, is beneficial to patients with Barrett's oesophagus or whether using patients' symptoms could be just as good. It should be important to find out if regular endoscopy benefits patients before routinely offering it.

To see if the BOSS trial is right for you please ask your Hospital Doctor / Research Nurse for further information
